Side table
VARINA
BY Hugo Silva & Joana Santos

Materials
Natural and recyclable composite light cork; felt waste from the Portuguese hat making industry in 'grumpy black', 'deep blue', 'hot red' or 'scared blue' and flower pattern or arrow pattern.

Finishings
Colorless aqueous coating in the cork, with water, oil, stain and dust repellency properties, as well as high resistance to UV rays and aging.

Custom
Arranged with the client.

Description
The VARINA table represents the women called "VARINAS" from the lands of Var, now known as Ovar - a city in Portugal. They left by train for Porto and Lisbon with a basket on a wheel on their heads, to sell fish. With cork as the base material, the table has a wheel that supports the top and represents the artifact that facilitates the transport of the basket on the head. The wheel is a small circular pillow made with hand-interlaced felt waste.
